Like you, we are 100% behind the 2012 Olympics, and have been working closely with [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] and her LOCOG communications team. We are all keen to involve 2012 sponsors and supporters and so we are proposing an "Open Day" at our offices in Kensington. Our great hope is to have you say a few magic words to bond us and inspire us to new Olympian heights of partnership and to further this for London.

We are so hoping that you would be happy to do this - all of us telling the sponsors how unified we are in this great event for our capital.

We are suggesting Monday, 6 September at 1pm. Seb has said he can do this date and time. The week after he is in Australia, and after that the Party conferences begin.

Our managing editor [REDACTED] is working closely with [REDACTED] and her team on a number of 2012 initiatives including the Open Day. His email is [REDACTED], mobile [REDACTED]. Boris, we really hope you can do this. Most important, though, is if you can make that date.
