Dear [REDACTED]

Thank you for your request for information which the GLA received on 23 March. Your request has been dealt with under the Freedom of Information Act 2000.

Please find our response below to your request as follows:

A document titled Charlton Riverside Draft Employment & Heritage Study, dated January 2017, is currently available online. The document is jointly badged Royal Borough of Greenwich and Mayor of London.

The introduction to the document states that the study aimed to provide detailed and up-to-date information on the local economy in Charlton Riverside. It is noted that the study recorded all job generating uses. It is clear that a detailed review of businesses, mapped to their locations / the footprints of their accommodation, was carried out, and coupled with consultant generated activity categorisations and estimates of job numbers.

*However, the document currently available online does not make available all this information. It does not include any business names, nor link these to the maps, to job estimates and activity type / category.

In the interests of public sharing of such non-confidential information about this area's economy, that has been gathered by public authorities, and to help interested parties to be fully informed and to properly engage in the discussions about the future of the area, I now request that this fuller information be shared.

Please find attached the spreadsheet containing the requested information.

If you have any further questions relating to this matter, please contact me, quoting the reference at the top of this letter.

Yours sincerely

Paul Robinson
Information Governance Officer
