

FOI request to the Greater London Authority submitted on 18 September 2016

#6470

Sadiq Khan recently made a trip to Chicago to speak before the Chicago Council on Global Affairs. I request you provide the following information under the Freedom of Information Act:

1. How much Sadiq Khan's recent flight(s) to and from Chicago cost, the names of the companies that provided these flight(s) and which cabin class his ticket(s) were for (economy class, first class or business class).
2. The source of the money used to pay for the Mayor's flight travel to and from Chicago (e.g. the Mayor's budget or the Mayor's personal expenses account).

The Greater London Authority's response sent 7 October 2016

The Mayor's flights into Chicago (from Montreal) and out (to New York) cost £214. These were Economy class tickets with United Airlines. These were paid for from the existing International Relations budget within the Greater London Authority.
