

Thank you for your request for information which the GLA received on 5th April 2018. Your request has been dealt with under Environmental Information Regulations 2004.

You asked for a list of all the sites in London (Zones 1 and 2) that have received planning permission for upward extension but have not been built on yet.

Attached is a list of planning permissions from the London Development Database with the development type of Extension and with a current development status of either not started or under construction.

The Extension code is primarily used for vertical extensions to existing buildings, but is sometimes used for schemes that involve a mix of change of use and extension, and occasionally for lateral extensions to existing dwellings that create a new unit. You may need to scan through the data to get the sub-set that you need.

Information on development starts and completions was last comprehensively updated as at 31/03/2017. While the status of some schemes has been updated since then, others may not have been checked since that date.

A full list of live permissions and completions back to 2006 from the London Development Database can be found on the London Datastore.

If you have any further questions relating to this matter, please contact me, quoting the reference at the top of this email.