Date:

I, SADIQ KHAN, MAYOR OF LONDON, in exercise of the powers conferred on me by section 155(1)(c) of the Greater London Authority Act 1999 ("the Act") and in pursuance of my duty under section 174 of the Act, hereby direct Transport for London as follows:

1. that the level and structure of fares to be charged for public passenger transport services provided by Transport for London or by any other person in pursuance of an agreement under section 156(2) or 3(a) of the Act or in pursuance of a transport subsidiary's agreement shall, in respect of services provided under Demand Responsive Bus trials ("DRB Trials") only, until the end of a 12 month period from the date of service launch or until further Direction, whichever is the sooner, in accordance with the specifications developed by Transport for London and on which negotiations and agreements with service providers have been based, be more than the prevailing bus fare on London local services per journey (£1.50), with an expectation that the average fare will be no more than £3.50 per journey, and under no circumstances more than £6.50 per journey; and
2. that, in respect of fare concessions, in accordance with the specifications developed by Transport for London, the (a) the Freedom Pass and (b) the English National Concessionary Travel Scheme only shall apply in respect of DRB Trials; and that in addition, children aged under 5 will travel for free when accompanied by a fare paying adult.

This Direction does not affect fares on all other bus network services which remain at £1.50.

Dated this day 29th of April 2019.

Sadiq Khan
Mayor of London
