Please note that information relating to junior staff names/email addresses is exempt from disclosure under s.40 (Personal information) of the Freedom of Information Act. This information could potentially identify specific employees and as such constitutes as personal data which is defined by s.1 (1) of the Data Protection Act 1998 to mean data which relates to a living individual who can be identified from that data.

If you are a company that intends to use the names / contact details of any officers provided in this response for direct marketing, you need to be registered with the Information Commissioner to process personal data for this purpose.
