Hi Emma

Further to your message to Colin below, we've done a large number of 'point queries' of the adopted proposals map, which indicate a Green Belt boundary as shown by the red line on the image below. This provides further support to our understanding that a sizeable part of the northern end of the site is within the Green Belt, and we have not been provided with robust evidence to the contrary. We also note that the 2006 proposals map seems to be identical to the current proposal map in this regard.

If you were to refer the Stage II as it is, based on the information available, the GLA would need to assess the Green Belt issue and would highlight the potential misinformation in the Council's committee report. It would therefore be much more preferable for Haringey to resolve this before referral, and we'd suggest that the Council's committee should be made aware of the Green Belt boundary indicated by the current proposals map, and the proposed building footprint in relation to the Green Belt.

Many thanks

Martin

Hi Colin

I am sorry that we could not provide you with the confidence you needed last Friday to enable the Hale Wharf proposals to be considered by the Mayor. I hope that this email and the attachments enable you confirm that you are happy for me to resent the Stage II referral.

The Green Belt boundary around the north of the application site was an issue in the run up to Muse/CRT submitting the planning application in May 2016 – when I confirmed to them that this part of the site was not included within the adopted Green Belt boundary. The sliver of land on the eastern boundary of the site is in the Green Belt and this only contains landscaping.

The position is as outlined in my emails of Friday 17 November. The northern tip of the site is wholly outside the Green Belt boundary as shown on the adopted Proposals Map (2013). The northern tip of the application sites is, erroneously, shown as being within Green Belt on the emerging Local Strategic Policies Map (January 2016). However, this was an error and is in the process of being corrected (see the attached Schedule of Minor Modifications, 18-05-16, that was submitted to the Examination in Public in to the proposed Alterations to Strategic Policies, Page 2, modification reference MM9).

The Adopted Proposals Map

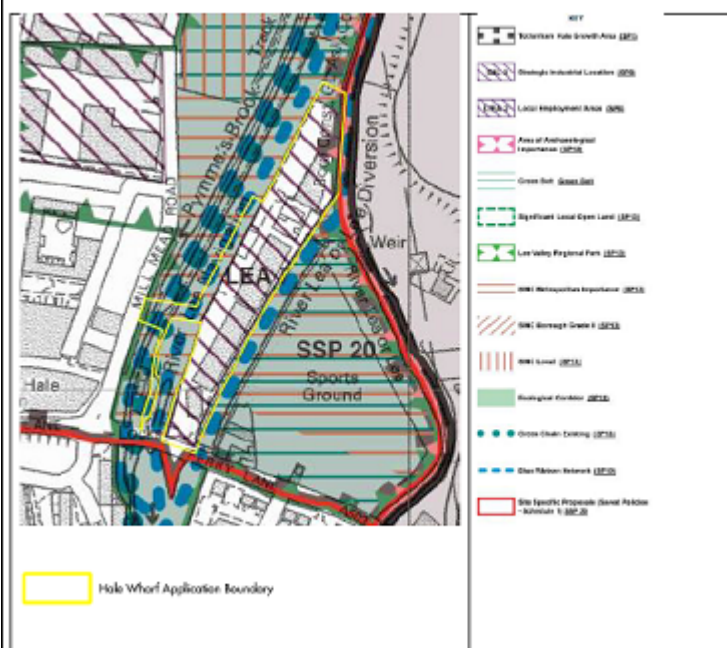

Your email to Graham Harrington of 18 November raises a number of issues about the adopted Proposals Map following your own interrogation of the on-line version using the 'point search' function.

Officers here have investigated the cartogold system that supports the on-line adopted proposals Map and have found that it is throwing up anomalies. These include those that you refer to in your email. It is also incorrectly identifying Green belt on other areas which are clearly not Green Belt (for example immediately to the west of the northern tip of the site). This is clearly something we need to address when we put the emerging Proposals Map on line.

I attach here screenshots from the adopted Proposals Map for Green belt and SINC in and around the application site. The first of each marked-up screenshot shows the banding used on the Proposals Map and the second of each sets out the Local Planning Authority's interpretation of boundaries based on this banding.

I appreciate that the application site is not shown on these images, but Figure 6.1 in the applicant's Planning Statement transposes the site on the adopted Proposals Map and this is set out below. This demonstrates that, based on the Local Planning Authority's interpretation of its Map that the site is wholly outside Green belt at the Northern tip and partially within SINC.

Planning Sub-Committee Report

The following references in the Committee report are wrong and I apologise that this has caused confusion. The references to the Northern tip of the site should actually refer to the eastern edge of the site. The incorrect is indicated as strikethrough below..

- Page 40 (6.1.39). “Green Belt. Local Plan Policy SP13 (Open Space and Biodiversity) requires new development to protect and enhance where possible the Green Belt and London Plan Policy 7.16 (Green Belt) states that the strongest protection should be given to Green Belt and that inappropriate development will be refused, except in very special circumstances . Saved UDP Policy OS5 (Development Adjacent to Open Space) makes clear that development adjacent to green belt will only be approved where it protects or enhances its value. ~~Whilst the northern tip of the site is within the Green Belt, no buildings are proposed to be located within this area. Furthermore, the area is proposed to be set out as part of an ecological area which the NPPF identifies as an appropriate use of Green Belt land and would enhance the retained adjacent Green Belt.~~
- Page 47 (6.3.1). “The site and surrounding area is described in Section 3.2. There are a number of key physical, policy and deliverability constraints to its successful development and these can be summarised as follows:~~The northern tip is within Green Belt.~~

The submitted Environmental Statement reports on an assessment of the likely significant effects of the proposed development within the northern tip of the site as being within the Lee Valley SINC (8.6.32 to 8.6.36) and the committee report (Page 93, 6.8.8) correctly addresses this issue.

Conclusion

I hope that this email provides you with the confidence to report the Hale Wharf planning application to the Mayor. With the clarity provided in this email, I believe that the Mayor would be able to make a safe and robust decision on the application.

Please get in touch if you would like to discuss matters further.

I have had a further look at your adopted proposals map. If you use the point search function it identifies the northernmost 10-12m of this site as Greenbelt, as part of an ecological corridor and as a site of Metropolitan Importance for wildlife . If you use the point search to look at the Local Employment area it identifies it as an employment site.

I think the reason that the green horizontal hatching doesn't appear is because its hidden behind the brown horizontal hatch. You can see this happens when the lines come into phase. For instance if you look at the paddock Greenbelt you can see that one of the green lines disappears behind one of the brown lines, (third from the bottom). But its still Greenbelt, as the point search confirms.

I can see why this has happened. Its because the northernmost boundary of the Local Employment Area is based on the northernmost elevation of the current industrial sheds on the site, rather than on the actual site boundary.

It's an error that hasn't been picked up in the original EIP, but which you are looking to rectify in the new plan. I'm going to take some legal advice of our own on how we approach this.

Hi Katherine

The adopted Proposals Map (2013) substantially excludes the Hale Wharf site. A screenshot is attached and a link to the full document is below the screenshot.

<http://www.cartogold.co.uk/haringey/Haringey.htm>

The emerging Local Strategic Policies Map (January 2016), which you include an extract from in your email, is proposed to be modified to revert back to the adopted Policies Map boundary. I attach the Schedule of Minor Modifications (18-05-16) that was submitted to the EiP (Page 2, modification ref MM9).

The adopted policies map is still in place and this substantially excludes the site. I am awaiting a plan from the applicant to identify the small area in the north east corner that would be within the Green Belt but is not proposed to accommodate any buildings.

So, technically I think we are OK - no buildings being proposed within the adopted Green belt boundary.

Does this help you keep this on the agenda?

Can you withdraw this again, by email so we can get this resolved.

The current 2013 UDP proposals map shows the Greenbelt boundary cutting through the north of the site (it cuts through the northern most building in the outline application). I can see how this has happened, when the 2013 UDP map was drawn the northernmost industrial building was used to mark the edge of the site, whilst the actual property boundary lies about 20m to the north of that point.

Were policy text and maps contradict each other, the text usually takes precedence, but the text for this development site this is in isn't helpful either as it states that part of development site TH9 is in Greenbelt. Its referring to the Paddock, but it isn't explicit about which parts are in or out of the Greenbelt, so its ambiguous.

I appreciate that a new proposals map will clarify this, but as we don't have one yet It would be useful to get a legal steer on the current policy position.

It's important that we get this right given the levels of scrutiny, so it would be very helpful to get some additional time on this.

There isn't a building on the green belt just landscaping is my understanding.

The green belt boundary isn't correct on the version of the proposals map on-line and it is corrected in the local plan review but it's not mapped as yet. The agent might be the easiest way to get a clear explanation.

Hi Robbie,

I'm just trying to finalise the Stage 2 report for tomorrow's agenda and I wanted to check on a point regarding the Green Belt boundary.

In the committee report, it states that the northern tip of the site is within Green Belt, but that there would only be landscaping in this area. However, the parameter plans show that buildings would be built right up to the northern boundary of the applicant's site. When I compare the red line site to the Local Plan proposals map, it seems that the applicant's red line site corresponds to the outline of the TH9 proposal site, which means that there would be a building on Green Belt.

I've attached the extracts from the map and the applicant's site plans below – in fact at worst, it looks as if there might be half a building proposed in the Green Belt?! Is there possibly a more accurate or up-to-date map showing the GB boundary that you were using in your assessment?

I'd be grateful if you could have a look at this and provide a response on this issue tomorrow morning, as our report deadline is 12 noon tomorrow.

Many thanks,

Katherine

Hi Emma/Graham,

This is what we mean – I've drawn the black line on the applicant's site plan and on the adopted proposals map to line through with equivalent points and this shows that the applicant's red line site is in Green Belt. Proposal site TH9 seems to align with the building on the site, whereas the applicant has drawn their red line beyond this (and are proposing buildings right up to the red line).

Thanks,

Katherine

Hi Colin

The building is outside of the adopted Green Belt boundary - it is inside the proposed Green Belt Boundary (by mistake) and that is in the process of being modified.

I am sorry that I am not in a position to send you a plan that shows this (the applicant is digging one out as we speak).

We checked this morning.

Can you please confirm the withdrawl of the Stage 2 in the next 10 minutes.

You can reinstate it by email.

An extra 5 days would be helpful.

Thanks

Hi Katherine

The adopted Proposals Map (2013) substantially excludes the Hale Wharf site. A screenshot is attached and a link to the full document is below the screenshot.

<http://www.cartogold.co.uk/haringey/Haringey.htm>

The emerging Local Strategic Policies Map (January 2016), which you include an extract from in your email, is proposed to be modified to revert back to the adopted Policies Map boundary. I attach the Schedule of Minor Modifications (18-05-16) that was submitted to the EiP (Page 2, modification ref MM9).

The adopted policies map is still in place and this substantially excludes the site. I am awaiting a plan from the applicant to identify the small area in the north east corner that would be within the Green Belt but is not proposed to accommodate any buildings.

So, technically I think we are OK - no buildings being proposed within the adopted Green belt boundary.

Does this help you keep this on the agenda?

Emma

Can you withdraw this again, by email so we can get this resolved.

The current 2013 UDP proposals map shows the Greenbelt boundary cutting through the north of the site (it cuts through the northern most building in the outline application). I can see how this has happened, when the 2013 UDP map was drawn the northernmost industrial building was used to mark the edge of the site, whilst the actual property boundary lies about 20m to the north of that point.

Were policy text and maps contradict each other, the text usually takes precedence, but the text for this development site this is isn't helpful either as it states that part of development site TH9 is in Greenbelt. Its referring to the Paddock, but it isn't explicit about which parts are in or out of the Greenbelt, so its ambiguous.

I appreciate that a new proposals map will clarify this, but as we don't have one yet It would be useful to get a legal steer on the current policy position.

It's important that we get this right given the levels of scrutiny, so it would be very helpful to get some additional time on this.

Robbie and I are on leave unfortunately. I have copied in Stuart who should be able to help.

There isn't a building on the green belt just landscaping is my understanding.

The green belt boundary isn't correct on the version of the proposals map on-line and it is corrected in the local plan review but it's not mapped as yet. The agent might be the easiest way to get a clear explanation.

Hi Robbie,

I'm just trying to finalise the Stage 2 report for tomorrow's agenda and I wanted to check on a point regarding the Green Belt boundary.

In the committee report, it states that the northern tip of the site is within Green Belt, but that there would only be landscaping in this area. However, the parameter plans show that buildings would be built right up to the northern boundary of the applicant's site. When I compare the red line site to the Local Plan proposals map, it seems that the applicant's red line site corresponds to the outline of the TH9 proposal site, which means that there would be a building on Green Belt.

I've attached the extracts from the map and the applicant's site plans below – in fact at worst, it looks as if there might be half a building proposed in the Green Belt?! Is there possibly a more accurate or up-to-date map showing the GB boundary that you were using in your assessment?

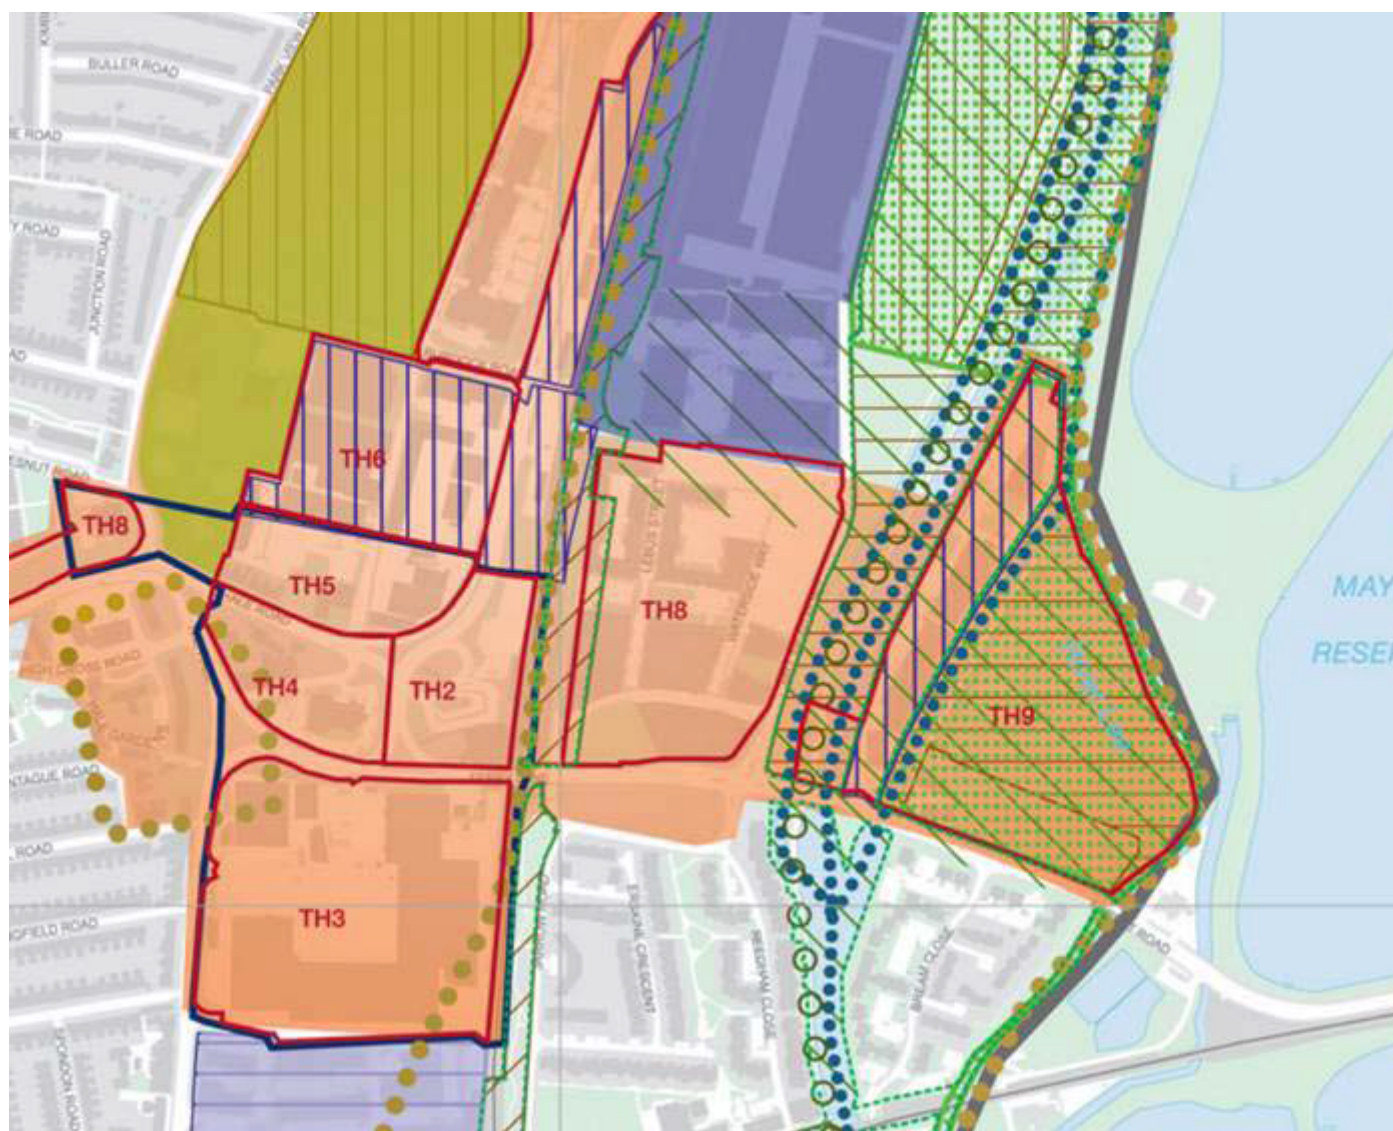

I'd be grateful if you could have a look at this and provide a response on this issue tomorrow morning, as our report deadline is 12 noon tomorrow.

Many thanks,

Katherine
