

1st Mayor's Report to the Assembly

MQT – 25 May 2016

This is my first Mayor's Report to the Assembly, fulfilling my duty under Section 45 of the Greater London Authority Act 1999. It covers the period 9th – 11th May.

Executive Summary

Thank you London

I want to say thank you to Londoners for electing me as your new Mayor. London is the greatest city in the world, a city of which I am incredibly proud, and I am deeply humbled to have been chosen by my fellow Londoners.

My burning ambition for London is that every Londoner is afforded the same opportunities the city gave to me and my family. This will guide me every day as Mayor and will help me to drive forward the improvements that this city needs.

I want Londoners to have access to decent and affordable homes and to be able to afford a comfortable commute no matter where they live or work. Londoners should also not just be safe, but also feel safe and secure. I will strive to make London's air cleaner and the city healthier. Londoners also deserve to have access to more jobs with better pay. I will do everything in my power to make these things happen.

I promise to be a Mayor for all Londoners regardless of background and to work hard to make life better for all of us.

Signing in ceremony

On 7 May, I was joined at Southwark Cathedral by over 300 representatives from London's faith communities, boroughs, charities, businesses, voluntary and community organisations and the cultural and creative industries, for the official ceremony to mark my declaration of acceptance of office.

I was hugely honoured to be introduced at the event by Baroness Lawrence of Clarendon and to be surrounded by religious leaders and other community representatives as I signed the declaration, a measure of my determination to represent every single community as Mayor for all Londoners. I was also delighted to have the choir from St Bonaventure's RC School in Newham perform at the ceremony, and I am grateful to each and every guest who attended the event at such short notice to show their support for me and their city.

New London Assembly

On behalf of all Londoners, I would like to congratulate the 25 elected Assembly Members who now make up the new London Assembly. I look forward to working alongside you over the next 4 years so that we can work to improve the lives of all Londoners and make the city a better and safer place to live.

I am ready for the intense scrutiny that comes with the responsibility of being Mayor of London and I look forward to our first Mayor's Question Time later this month.

Transport

One hour 'Hopper' fare to launch in September

On 10 May, I was pleased to meet my manifesto pledge by announcing that millions of Londoners are now set for cheaper and more convenient bus journeys with the launch of the new one hour 'Hopper' fare from September.

The Hopper fare will automatically be given to anyone who uses pay as you go with Oyster cards or contactless payments, and will allow passengers to make an additional bus journey for free within one hour of touching in on the first bus. For the vast majority of passengers this will mean an end to having to pay two bus fares when changing bus routes, and it is expected particularly to benefit Londoners on lower incomes who often rely on the bus network to get around.

Unlimited bus transfers within one hour are not currently possible due to limits imposed by the technology used by TfL. However, with TfL's ticketing technology set to be upgraded next year, this will enable TfL to deliver unlimited journeys within an hour by the end of 2018, but with an aim of doing so sooner.

This is just the start of my plan to ensure that travelling around London is affordable for everyone, a commitment that includes a freeze on TfL fares for four years, which will benefit millions of people.

Community Relations

Yom HaShoah Remembrance Day

On 8 May, I attended the Yom HaShoah Annual Jewish Remembrance Day for Victims of the Holocaust ceremony at Barnet Cophall Stadium. This was my first official engagement as the new Mayor of London.

I attended the event alongside Chief Rabbi Ephraim Mirvis, and Mark Regev, Israel's ambassador to the UK, where I also met survivors of the Holocaust and their families. The event was a deeply humbling experience and reminds us why it is so important that we reflect, remember and educate people about the 6 million Jewish lives lost in the Holocaust.

Policing, Crime and Security

Meeting with the Mayor of Paris

On 10 May, I met with Anne Hidalgo, the Mayor of Paris, at St Pancras Station, to discuss how our two great cities can work together and learn from each other in order to tackle the biggest challenges we face, such as security, housing and air pollution.

We discussed how our cities can work together to fight extremism and radicalisation and promote better community integration. Londoners' safety is my top priority and I want to see the Metropolitan Police Service working more closely with French counter-terrorism units. If by this we can make even the smallest improvement to our capabilities - on either side - then I believe that is something we absolutely must do.

The city of Paris has also led the way on green initiatives and environmental issues and I look forward to working closely with Paris, and other global cities, to tackle climate change.

I'm sure that this this will be the beginning of an excellent and productive working relationship between two of the most diverse cities in the world.

Appointments

I am currently in the process of appointing David Bellamy as my Chief of Staff. David introduced himself to all staff and Assembly Members on Monday.

I will also be making a number of other appointments soon. As I have previously made clear, I don't intend to rush to make these appointments. In line with GLA processes, pre-employment checks are underway for a number of new appointees.

Once due process is complete, I will formally advise the Assembly on these appointments and the details will be made public on the GLA website.

Joanne McCartney appointed as Statutory Deputy Mayor

I am delighted to confirm the appointment of Joanne McCartney AM as London's new Statutory Deputy Mayor. Joanne is a long-serving member of the London Assembly and has done an excellent job as the Chair of the Police and Crime Committee.

I know she will bring her invaluable experience and skills to this new role, provide a key link between me and the Assembly and do a fantastic job representing the mayoralty across London, whilst helping to deliver my manifesto for all Londoners.
