Your message

No car spaces to be added to new development, This really upsets me. I work in conservation and pro saving the environment...this also mean I'm a low earning professional, a zoo keeper. I'd like to eventually get on the housing ladder but the cheapest, quickest and safest way for me to travel to is driving in to work. I'd also like to add that I work on Xmas day where transport isn't available as animals are religious.

I feel you are demonising the public who want to travel using their own mode of transportation as this is the cheapest option for them...surely you should put pressure on car companies to make more environmentally friendly cars...the technology is there. Have more electric car charging ports.

Cycling to work for me really isn't an option as I live over 8miles from work and my job is physical demanding especially in the summer when I do 10hr work days.

I am looking to buy a shared ownership but parking is essential and I'm sure I speak for many people who have this same situation.

Look forward to your reply
