

Mr Peter Caton comments

Page: Draft New London Plan

Section: N/A

People need plenty of space and green places for preserving their mental health it's been proved scientifically that lack of space and recreational places can lead to mental health problems and anti- social behaviour in the younger generation.which is a serious problem at the moment in society and getting worse for these reasons