In the London Local Plan, Havering has been earmarked for 18,750 homes to be built over the next decade. Havering is already an overcrowded area with heavy traffic, hospitals and schools under pressure, and other public services under strain. Some of the traffic problems are caused for example by the Ardleigh Green Bridge construction which is over due in its completion by years.

For the above reasons I am against any more new homes being built in Havering and certainly not the huge amount being suggested.

Can you also publicise the consultation to a much wider audience so everyone can make their views known easily.

Regards

John
