Regarding the above proposal, whilst we acknowledge the need for more homes, we strongly oppose the plan to build a further 18,750 in the London Borough of Havering during the next decade.

We are a Borough with over 50% green belt and these target figures are simply unsustainable and unrealistic.

We are already clogged up with traffic in this area, and trying to travel during peak times is an immense challenge!!!

Already our schools and medical facilities are struggling to cope and it is increasingly difficult to retain the character of our borough and our local community.

Creating New Towns 'up country' with all the necessary infrastructure would seem to be a far better solution, rather than to keep overwhelming our already overcrowded area.

Yours faithfully,

Eric and Margaret Pearson

(London Borough of Havering)
