It is my belief that lands parallel to M25 motorway should be developed first, for upto 2 miles deep on both sides, as hub&spoke developments, as there are a lot of empty lands, at least visible to eye whilst driving (maybe agricultural but does not look like it). We can not just pile everything up within the existing space as even the new developed sites are soon becoming crime hotspots, deprived no-go areas et al.

We must also build homes like we build cars, not always from bricks and mortar but from modern building methodoliges, including pre-engineered laminated wood and light gauge steel frame.
